

Sr. Meaghan V. Patterson
Executive Director
Dawn's Place

Sr. Meaghan V. Patterson is a Sister of St. Joseph of Chestnut Hill and the Executive Director of Dawn's Place. Dawn's Place offers a safe and caring residential setting for survivors of commercial sexual exploitation or sex trafficking.

She also has a background in teaching and administration in Philadelphia and a surrounding suburb. She taught both younger and older elementary students before entering administration, where she worked with various stakeholders of the school, participated in development and fundraising opportunities, and coordinated community partnerships.

Sr. Meaghan recently interned with a small non-profit in Chester County, PA, where she worked with women who have or were about to experience homelessness. Her educational background includes a degree in English from Chestnut Hill College, a Master's degree in Multicultural Education from Eastern University, and a Master's in Social Work from Fordham University.
